Moving Pictures

Princess.

Elise Ferguson, one of the most popular and leading of film stars, will be featured for Wednesday and Thursday at Loewe's Princess in her new story of cabaret life and romance, "The Eyes of the Soul." Miss Ferguson is cast in the role of a pretty cabaret girl who is admired and made love to by a rich and wealthy man. The girl sees life only from the standpoint of a rich man and the results of this romance are of unusual interest. A scene in a big cabaret is one of the features of the story. A new Montgomery Flag comedy, "Welcome Stranger," is added.

Strand.

What would a Rex Beach drama be without a conflict? Always there is a terrific clash of wills and often a physical fight, and in some part of the play. The wonderful battle in "The Spill" never will be forgotten, and in "The Auction Block" and "Heart of the Sunset" there was no lack of violent action. Yet in "The Brand" Rex Beach declares that there is the strongest clash of all because the story is a depiction of the combatants in a war. He has pictured his popular novel and it is being shown for the last time today at the Strand.

Majestic.

Marguerite Clark, known as "the sweetest girl in motion pictures," has scored another decisive hit in her new Paramount photoplay, "Come Out of the Kitchen" at the Majestic theater for the last time today. Miss Clark has a charming role in this photoplay. The picture has been exceptionally produced while the supporting players are of the best. The film is warmly commended by all who have seen it, and comes here after two years on Broadway.

SECRET DOCKET DOES NOT GO FOR WOMEN

"I am going to turn loose all women arrested at the police station and held on the secret docket without a warrant," declared Judge Richards Wednesday, when he released from police custody Pearl Brooks on a writ of habeas corpus, filed by Charles Walsh and Abe Cohn.

The Brooks woman was picked up for vagrancy by the police along with a batch of women Tuesday night and was being held for examination by the health department.

Miss Clara Alghorn, special agent in the running down of women with certain diseases, protested to Judge Richards that the government was seeking to eliminate such diseases and that the town was honeycombed with houses that ought not to exist. The judge explained the law, saying that a person was legally held without a warrant and due process of law and that the rights were abridged when not given a chance to make bond for appearance later.

POCKET BIG ENOUGH BANK FOR FISHER

Declaring that he is not so rich as many may suppose and that what little money he makes he "can easily hide in one pocket," Dr. J. B. Fisher, defendant in a breach of promise suit filed by Florence Bauer, asking $10,000 as damages, filed answer to the bill Tuesday afternoon.

The original bill set up that Dr. Fisher enjoyed a practice of more than $1,000 a year, was possessed of many gems and articles of jewelry and had a batch of Liberty bonds.

45 CALIBRE WOULD HAVE RUINED HIM

If Arthur Jackson, negro, had confessed to carrying a pistol of 45-caliber he would have been sentenced to serve the rest of his natural lifetime, for his confession to "letting" a pistol of 22-caliber netted him a stay at the county workhouse for nine long months. However, Jackson got off light at that, as he had a charge of housebreaking and larceny on his record.

Jackson pleaded guilty to carrying a pistol in the first criminal court Wednesday.

Jolly and Wild, a pair of entertainers of national repute as funmakers, present in their new show, "Who's Your Tailor?" consisting of singing, instrumental music and a line of comedy sketches, a new and original production. "Who's Your Tailor?" opens with a rush, hustle and lots of noise, a set of scenery depicting the business street in "Daffyville," showing the stores of A. Nutt, the tailor, Miss J. Rogers, the milliner, and the music store of L. M. Dippy. Naturally there is a clash of the male population of the east as regards the affections of the milliner. Nutt, the tailor, makes life miserable for Dippy, who, when he is not being teased, is about as much as a man. Nutt, who is a moment with the attractive girl. He invariably butts into the conversation and makes the love making of Nutt a joke. A third member of the cast adds to the comedy furnished.

An added attraction on the bill will be McCormack and Irving, musical comedy favorites in a dainty skit presented in an original manner, that combines songs and the best thing in the dance hall. Kennedy is a capable, refined singing comedienne, who specializes in ballads and musical comedy hits. Other acts will include Gaynell and Mack in a diversion of whirling and acrobatic dances and Arpa and Arpa, acrobatic and equilibristic marvels. Bryant Washington in "Something to Do," a comedy drama, will be the film star.
